Sandstorm Swept Plains For Five Days

WORST STORM OF YEAR HITS ON THURSDAY

Wheat Damaged Some by Continued Winds of 4 Days

NO MOISTURE HERE

Temperature Drops to 11 Degrees on Two Mornings

An old-fashioned sand storm swept the Plains from Thursday to Monday, slashing first from the southwest and then from the north in one of the worst blasts this section has had in years.

The blow started early Thursday morning, and did not subside in its fury until Sunday morning when it seemed that the storm might be over. But after resting for a few hours, the wind changed to the north with renewed vigor, not only stirring up the loose sands which had been piled up by the south wind, but also tumbling the mercury until it stood at 11 degrees above zero Monday morning. The cold wave continued throughout Monday, with the temperature standing on Tuesday morning at 10½ degrees above zero. Tuesday morning the wind changed to the southwest and the temperature started to rise, and the government bureau promises a continued rise.

No moisture fell in this section. A little snow fell in sections of the Panhandle, but not sufficient moisture to do any good. A few flakes of snow were mixed with the fine sand and dust Sunday, but if the wind ever allowed them to reach the ground they made no impression.

Damage was done to the wheat crop, but to what extent no one can estimate. Various guesses are being made as to the damage in various sections. Fields which started to blow Thursday were no doubt badly damaged by the continuous wind during the five days.

"It all depends on the kind of weather we have in the future," stated a close observer of conditions yesterday. "If rains come soon, folks will be agreeably surprised at the way some wheat fields come out which now look like a total loss. There is no way to estimate the loss excepting in the light of what may follow," stated this observer, who receives reports from many farmers.

There is better moisture in the wheat fields than most people realize, according to a statment of an inspector of a large loan company which has many real estate loans in the Panhandle. This inspector has bored holes in wheat fields all over Randall county and finds very good moisture from 24 to 30 inches deep. The surface moisture is what the wheat must have, and plenty of it during the spring months if it makes a good crop.

Governor Allred Asks Legislature Park Appropriation

Unless Texas provides more money for state parks, the National Park Service will reduce its work in Texas, according to advice received from leaders in Congress. Telegrams have poured into Austin the past week asking the legislature to pass an appropriation to meet the emergency, since all of the CCC camps in State Parks are very necessary.

During the past two years the National Park Service has spent $4,500,000 in developing Texas parks, whereas Texas has appropriated only $27,000 for state parks in the past 12 years.

Governor Allred asked for an appropriation Monday of $52,000. The House passed a bill calling for $36,500.

Baby Bonds Will be Offered Friday

Sale of Bonds to Be Made at Postoffices of Nation

United States Savings Bonds will be placed on sale at the postoffice on March 1st, according to announcement of the Treasury Department. These bonds are called baby bonds, being in denominations of $25, $50, $100, $500 and $1,000, and will be on sale at every postoffice in the nation in order to give the small investor an opportunity to buy. This will be the first series offered in this manner since the world war.

There will be no coupons on these bonds, but the price of sale is fixed so as to yield interest at the rate of 2.9% compounded annually if the original buyer holds them until maturity. The name of buyer and date of purchase will be inscribed upon each bond. The bonds may be redeemed at any time after 60 days, but if redeemed during the first year no interest will be paid.

The government offers its facilities in safe-keeping the bonds in the Federal Reserve Banks if the buyers desire.

The following will be the prices of the bonds:

$25 bond at maturity, costs $18.75.
$50 bond costs $37.50.
$100 bond costs $75.00.
$500 bond costs $375.00.
$1000 bond costs $750.00.

After the first year interest will be paid to those who wish to cash their bonds, but the interest rate is lower than should the bond be held until maturity.

Portraits of three Democratic Presidents and one Republican will appear on the face of the new baby bonds.

The $25 bond carries a picture of George Washington, while the likeness of Jefferson appears on the $50 bond, Cleveland on the $100 denomination, Wilson on the $500, and Lincoln on the $1,000 unit.

The Treasury said this would be the first time a picture of Woodrow Wilson has been used on a public debt security of the United States.

Revenue Deputy to Explain Income Tax Law Here Saturday

All married persons with an income of $2,500 or more must file an income tax report by March 15th, regardless of their claims for exemptions and dependents, and all single persons with an income of $1,000 are required to file the report. This new feature of the income tax law will require many thousand more people to file an income tax report this year than in past years.

Ralph Kenniston, deputy collector, will be at the First National Bank Saturday, March 2, from 9:30 a. m., until 4:00 p. m. to assist citizens in making their returns. He will answer questions regarding the provisions of the new law.

Although Saturday is Texas Independence Day, and a legal holiday in Texas, bank officials have decided to keep open in order that Mr. Kenniston can meet the people in the banking house, and also that business be not interfered with on Saturday.

Buffs Win Thrilling Ball Games Monday and Tuesday

YEARLINGS ON TOP

Buffs End Home Season With Smashing Wins Over Tech

The Buffalo basketball squad made a clean sweep with the home series with Texas Tech Monday and Tuesday nights, winning two thrilling games. Monday night the score stood 33 to 27. Tuesday night the tally was 28 to 21.

So far as the Buffalo season is concerned, the fans call it a complete with the winning of these two games. Since Tech has been established the two teams have played 46 games, and the Buffs have won 40 of them.

The Freshmen added to the Buffalo prestige Tuesday by defeating the Tech Freshmen in one of the hottest games witnessed in the Burton Gym this year. The regular time ended 22-all. In the extra five minutes of play the Freshmen sunk a charity shot by which the game was won.

Monday night the Buffs took the lead from the very start, and maintained a lead of not less than three points.

Tuesday night, Tech assumed the lead, which they held during the greater part of the first half. Once forging ahead, the Buffs maintained their command of the game by fast play and close guarding. So fast was the play that both teams missed many goals which would have been converted into scores had not the players been so hard pressed.

The Buffs closed the home season unless a series of games is scheduled with Hardin-Simmons of Abilene.

The team will go to Goodwell, Okla., to meet the Aggies which team handed them a defeat in the opening game of the season. The season will be closed at Las Vegas.

Canyon Club Hopes to Plant 500 Trees on Next Saturday

Arbor Day has been declared at the Canyon Club for next Saturday,, Texas Independence Day, when it is hoped that 500 trees will be planted on the club grounds.

S. H. Condron is in charge of the work, and has worked out a plan for the beautification of the club grounds. Co-operating with him is Dr. Anderson, landscape architect of the Palo Duro State Park, who sees great possibilities in the development of the Canyon Club grounds.

Members of the club and their families have been urged by President Ross Craig of the club to bring shovels, water pails, come to the club grounds and spend Saturday in work. Many will take their lunches.

Among the trees desired for the club, and which citizens are asked to donate are cottonwood, Chinese elms, wild plums, cherry, walnut, dogwood, persimmon and ash.

Weather Does Not Interfere With the Crowd on Saturday

A large good-natured crowd gathered in Canyon Saturday, braving the dust and cold for the weekly trades event being stated by the Chamber of Commerce. 64 business and professional firms are cooperating in this weekly event.

Plans are made to continue this weekly event, and an urgent invitation is extended to all citizens to participate.

Four District Winners to Compete Two Days

Four districts, the Amarillo, Lubbock, Pampa, and Childress will compete for the right to enter the State Finals in Austin March 8 and 9.

Coach Lynch's Golden Sandies Basketeers won the Amarillo district in a close battle from Dalhart. Lamesa won the Lubbock district for the third consecutive year. Crowell will represent the Childress district, and Pampa represents the Pampa district.

Last year the Lamesa quintet won the Regional Meet and went to the State Finals where they were defeated by Athens.

Tickets are on sale for the games according to Mr. Lockhart. Single tickets will be 25 cents each, while season tickets may be purchased for 50 cents. This year for the first time, season tickets will be transferable. Two or more persons may use the same ticket for different games.

West Texas State Teachers College, sponsor of the affair, is awarding a large silver trophy to the winner.

In the drawing for places Monday, Crowell and Pampa drew first places and will play the first game of the meet at 2:00 o'clock Friday afternoon.

This game will be followed at 3:15 by the game between Amarillo and Lamesa.

CLUB GETS A GOOD START IN CANYON

Amarillo Boys Put On Entertainment at the Gym

START MEETINGS

More Than Hundred To Be Enrolled By Saturday

The Canyon Maverick Club No. 2 is going strong this week with 97 boys enrolled, states Coach Al Baggett, chairman of the committee from the Rotary Club. Mr. Baggett is chairman of the local committee which sponsored the club, and will have the responsibility of its direction.

With 86 boys attending the entertainment program Friday night, the club was favorably received when the program was put on by more than 250 boys from Amarillo, headed by Emmett Galloway. The Amarillo crowd came in three big trucks, bringing a group of entertainers who put on an athletic program for the benefit of the Canyon people. A large number of parents accompanied the boys from Canyon to see the nature of the work. Practically every boy who attended the meeting Friday night signed up for membership Saturday, and others who were unable to get to the gathering Friday have joined. It is expected that the membership will run far above 100 before the end of this week.

The program consisted of several bouts of boxing and wrestling between boys of various ages.

The greatest excitement prevailed when eight negro boys of "Old Bones" Mathews' Maverick Club entered the ring for a battle royal. The last boy left standing received a cash prize of 50 cents, and a big hand from the crowd for the entertainment furnished.

Dutch Mantell was ring side referee, umpire, timekeeper and whatnot. His popularity among the boys of Amarillo and Canyon was revealed by the applause of his antics. He entered the ring as third man in the main wrestling event of the evening between Vic Webber, trainer for the Amarillo Maverick Club, and Gorilla Pogi, noted as a rough and tumble ear smasher, who kept both Mantell and Webber quite busily engaged.

Ice cream was distributed to all boys present.

Until the end of the basketball season the Maverick club will meet three days weekly, and after that time five meetings per week will be held. Mr. Baggett is planning a program of activity along the lines of the Amarillo Club. Meetings will be held in the Burton Gymnasium until a permanent home is secured. This building has been included in one of the work relief projects which has been submitted from Canyon, but no action is expected on this for several weeks.

Mr. Baggett expressed great appreciation at the uniform backing of the club which has been given by the citizens of Canyon, and hopes that the work will be of great benefit to the boys as the activities of the club increases in scope.

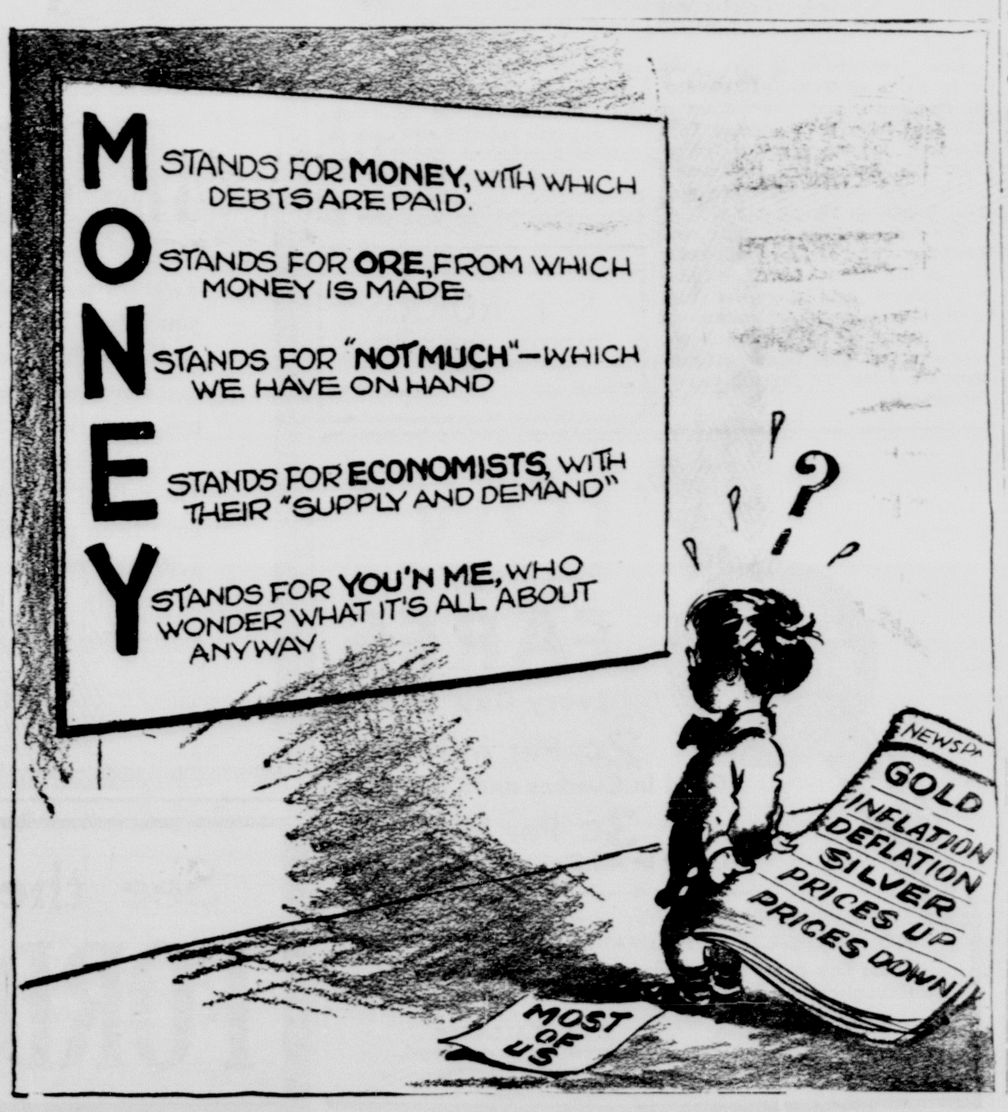

Realtors Ask Aid Sales Tax Against The Property Tax

John Gilvin of Amarillo was here Friday soliciting funds from property owners to assist realtors of Texas in fighting for a reduction of property tax. The organization of real estate dealers wish to see the constitutional amendment adopted to exempt from all taxation up to $3,000. They believe that this will create a demand for more homes and will boom real estate values in Texas.

To offset the loss of the property tax, the organization asks that the sales tax be passed by the legislature.

Mr. Gilvin secured a number of memberships here, and states that he has memberships from practically all business and professional men of Amarillo.

PANHANDLE MEMBER 1933 PRESS ASSOCIATION

President Roosevelt has struck opposition in the Senate, which refuses to continue his almost unlimited powers in handling national affairs. The Democratic revolt was not unexpected, but it is in greater magnitude than predicted. Union labor is causing most of the trouble. Organized efforts always present a stronger appeal than unorganized bodies. The fact that organized labor constitutes such a small percent of laborers have never been fully comprehended by politicians, since the organizations make a fight while the others remain quiet. However, if organized labor succeeds in defeating the President's plan and holds up the relief program which is needed by millions of people, it will be a severe test on both the unions and those senators who have been influenced by the unions. The fight against the depression will not be won until several million more men are put to work. The present fight in the senate, if won by the unions, will not put the unemployed to work. The Republicans claim that the revolt against the President is popular in the nation. Perhaps it is with a small percentage of the people, who think they know what is wrong and how to remedy it; but with the vast majority, they are willing to admit they know not what the matter is, that they do not know the remedy, but are willing to leave the solution to the President who assumes the responsibility of leadership, and is willing to try out experiments, hoping some of them will work.

Construction improvements in Canyon this spring will make a decided change which will be greatly appreciated by the citizens. Buffalo Court, and other improvements now under way, will greatly improve the campus. The men's dormitory will soon be under construction, and four more PWA projects should soon be started. Topping the Goodnight Trail, together with widening highway No. 9 will greatly improve the highways. Improvements at the Dreamland Cemetery, and the Canyon Club will be of great value. Then if any of the ten public works projects are approved, these will give additional labor and increase the appearance of public institutions in the city. All of these activities in Canyon should be of great benefit to the citizens, and add to the attractiveness of the city.

Dallas county will have a legislative election to fill the place made vacant by the elevation of Judge Sarah T. Hughes from the House to the District Court bench. More than 75 candidates are out for the place, and the cost to the taxpayers of Dallas county will amount to $7,000 for this election. That is a very high price to pay for the election of one representative, and should lead to a simpler method of filling vacancies. Furthermore, with the large number of candidates, a representative citizen could hardly be expected to be chosen. The one who wins will probably represent a small group who are able to get together in an organization casting a small percent of the votes.

In Friday's edition of the Dalhart Texan, John L. McCarty wrote "A Tribute to Our Sandstorms." Very pretty sentiments were expressed over the day's blow of Thursday. But deep in his heart, we are wondering what John thought about sandstorms at the end of the fifth day of blowing. Personally, after nearly a quarter century on the Plains, the only times we would rather be some place else than the Panhandle is when those sandstorms hit—and then most any old place would beat the Panhandle. Fortunately, these disagreeable times comes very seldom, and this inconvenience is soon overshadowed by the pleasure of the Plains.

Truck operators who are demanding an increase in the allowable load from 7,000 to 14,000 pounds should explain why trucks caused the death of 515 persons in Texas in 1934, an increase of 153 over 1933. A total of 1701 accidents occurred with trucks last year on Texas highways as compared with 1487 in 1933. 2314 persons were injured by truck accidents in 1934 as compared with 1972 in 1933. Turning the big trucks loose on the highways would add greatly to the number of accidents and deaths.

Baby bonds will again be offered to the public. During the war this kind of bond was very popular. The government has been placing many bonds on the market, but in such large denominations that the average citizen could not buy. Now the $25 bonds are offered, selling at $18.75. This will prove a popular investment to the little fellow with only a few dollars available for investment. The bonds will have no coupons, but will be redeemable after the first year with interest added at the rate of 2.9%.

Since March, 1933, the National Park Service has spent $4,598,544 on the state parks of Texas. During the past 12 years Texas has spent $27,591 on Texas parks. The federal government does not believe this to be a fair division, and demands an appropriation from the legislature for the support of Texas parks. The Palo Duro State Park is the second largest in Texas. It would be a shame to cripple the efficient work on this park because of the lack of a small appropriation from the legislature.

The drouth has settled the overproduction problem in this nation. AAA has simply been a drouth insurance to a large section of the nation. While prices of food stuffs have advanced tremendously, the advance comes at the wrong time to be of assistance to the producers, but perhaps the higher the prices will continue until another crop is made, which will bring benefit to the producer.

Enactment of law will not improve the citizenship of any state or nation. Most law is directed against a small minority who never intend to respect any law. This nation is infested with a multitude of surplus laws, and yet it is the most lawless civilized nation on the face of the globe.

Nearly all professional criminals suddenly become insane after they are caught.

THE COUNTY NEWSPAPER

Christian Science Monitor: Turning from city newspapers to come to the editor's desk is like stepping from the slums, full of vice, into an old-fashioned garden sweet with lavendar and thyme and the scent of perennial flowers. The pages of the big dailies are so full of murder, thievery, immorality and selfishness that the better news is obscured by these glaring shatterings of the Decalogue. One puts the papers aside with a feeling of depression and heartache that the world is so full of terrible and unhappy things.

Then picking up the papers that record the happenings of the little towns around us, one gains renewed faith in life. Here are set forth only that which uplifts a community—the activities of the businessmen, the church items, the happy social gatherings of the people, the marriages, births, and deaths, farmer's items, and all of the thousand and one daily occurances that make up the simple annals of the great common people who are really the foundation of this broad country of ours.

Sometimes people speak lightly of the country newspaper, but it is one of the most potent and uplifting factors in our national existence.

Stops On Tour To West Coast Are Announced

Plans Are Being Made For Trip To Vancouver

Leaving Canyon on July 16th, the second educational tour of the summer, directed by Prof. Frank R. Phillips, will proceed westward for a visit to various points of importance in that section of the United States.

The first stop, says Mr. Phillips, will be at Trinidad, Colorado. From there, the party will go to Pueblo where the state penitentiary and the iron mills will be visited. The route followed from Pueblo will include Denver, Salt Lake City (with a halt of two days), Yellowstone National Park, Helena, Montana, Seattle (for a four-day visit), a visit to the Pacific Exposition at San Diego, the Grand Canyon, Painted Desert, and the Petrified Forest, Santa Fe, and from there the return will be made to Canyon on August 24th.

Commercial clubs all along the route are planning sight-seeing tours to places and objects of interest for the party. According to Mr. Phillips, the tour will include visits to all the larger universities along the way so as to give students making the trip an acquaintance with the better institutions of higher learning.

A division passenger agent for the Canadian-Pacific Steamship Co. was here recently and gave Mr. Phillips information for the benefit of those making the tour concerning rates and accommodations for members of the tour who desire to sail from Seattle across to Vancouver in southwestern Canada.

MARTHA WASHINGTON SILVER TEA FOR S. S. CLASS

Four Martha Washington Silver Teas were given by members of the Freshman Girls' Sunday School Class of the Methodist Church Thursday afternoon from four to six at the homes of Mrs. C. M. Dowlen, Mrs. C. A. Murray, Randall Hall and the Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Quattlebaum.

Miss Ora Mae Harris was hostess at Mrs. Murray's, Miss Robbie Foster at Mrs. Dowlen's, Miss Rena Johnson at Rev. Quattlebaum's, and Ruth Capps at Randall Hall.

The guests were entertained by songs, readings, and piano numbers given by the girls of the class and by guest entertainers.

About one hundred twenty-five guests were served during the afternoon.

Panhandle Poets Asked to Contribute Dalhart Publication

Dalhart, Tex., Feb. 20.—Two announcements of unusual interest to Panhandle writers have just been made by The Dalhart Texan.

One is that poetry contests are now open; acceptance of manuscripts to close May 31, 1935. In No. 1 contest, known as the general contest, the first prize will be $25; second, $10; third, $5. Contest No. 2 offers a $10 prize for the best poetic treatment of a Panhandle historic or scenic subjects. Writers in the Panhandle of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Kansas and Colorado are eligible.

The other announcement is that The Texan again next fall will issue a poetry anthology, as yet untitled. This anthology will feature the prize-winning poems and others the editors think worthy of inclusion. It will be a larger, better book than the 1934 anthology, "Prairie Nights and Yucca," which has now become a collector's item, some volumes having sold as high as $5.00. More than 200 orders for this volume had to be turned down because the books were sold out.

The contest and anthology publication are aimed at discovering and encouraging advancement of poetic talent and ability of writers in the Panhandle, the whole effort being dedicated to the development of Panhandle literature and culture, the editors state.

Manuscripts for the poetry contests should be submitted immediately. Only one poem may be submitted in each contest, though one person may submit a poem in each of the contests. Work must have been done in its final state since June 1, 1934 and must not have been previously published. An internationally know Texas poet will judge both contests, submission of manuscripts implying acceptance of all contest rules. Awards will be announced as soon after July 1 as possible.

Mexico City Is Destination Of Second Edu. Tour

To Mexico City for about a week's stay is the destination of a second educational tour from West Texas State Teachers College this summer some time during the month of June. The tour, which will be under the direction of Miss Mary E. Hudspeth, head of the Department of Modern Languages, is to be made overland on the new highway that is expected to be completed by that time.

The tour will be of about two weeks duration altogether with one being spent in travelling and the other in sightseeing in Mexico City and its vicinity. $100 is the cost of the trip itself.

The college is sponsoring the tour, and faculty members of the Spanish Department are recommending it to all Spanish students. Many who are teaching now are expected to take advantage of this opportunity to make a visit to Mexico.

Particulars of the tour have not been worked out, but the completed plans will be announced in the near future.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Three Rink-Wise Old Men of Gotham Help Rangers Do an About-Face and Make Marvelous Spurt to the Fore

DIAMOND fans of pre-war vintage recall fondly the glorious 1914 drive of the Boston Braves, when, from last place on July 4, they battered through all opposition to the National League pennant and a niche in baseball's Hall of Fame at the season's end.

Neither before nor since has such a concerted drive taken place on the diamond; but a comparable feat has recently been accomplished on the rink, as the whoops of thousands of fans have testified.

From the opening gun of the hockey season right down to New Year's Day, the New York Rangers had played so colorlessly that it began to look as if rigor mortis would set in. The hitherto invincibles were going nowhere fast. Ranger fans shook their heads gloomily.

And then the New Year arrived. Maybe it was a resolution or something; anyway, the vets seemed to get their second wind and, with the fury of demons, literally smashed their way from the tail-end position to the top of the heap on Feb. 12.

Three youngsters, Charlie Mason, Bert Connolly, and Lester Patrick, Jr., son of the team's manager, deserve their meed of praise. But the big bouquets belong to three veteran Rangers: Frank Boucher and the two Cook brothers, Bun and Bill.

Aged as pucksters go (Boucher's 32, Bun 31, and Brother Bill 36) these decrepit seniles forced the furious pace that netted win after surprising win, and brought the Rangers up in the vanguard of the American Division.

Known as hockey's greatest scoring combination, the firm of Cook, Cook, and Boucher has netted more than 1000 points since the trio joined the Rangers in '26.

• • •

IN direct contradiction of baseball scouts who mourn about the dearth of good baseball material in this day and age, Frank Navin, president of the champion Detroit Tigers, goes out on a limb with the statement that good ball players are more abundant today than ever before.

He goes on to say that although the stars of yore were good, they stood out prominently only because they were placed against a background of mediocrity.

Maybe Navin can direct his scouts to a spot where right-hand hitting outfielders and good reserve infielders grow profusely. Manager Mickey Cochrane would appreciate it very much.

Painting of Mrs. Adair Placed in Museum

Picture Hangs Between Those of Husband And Associate

Among the most recent acquisitions of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum is a portrait of Mrs. Cornelia Adair, a woman who was equally at ease entertaining King Edward VII of England in her London home or talking with the cowboys of the JA Ranch with whose history she was identified for more than forty years. The portrait of Mrs. Adair is almost life-size and hangs in the Mary E. Hudspeth Art gallery between oil paintings of her husband, John George Adair, and Colonel Charles Goodnight who was their friend and business associate for many years.

The oil painting was sent to the museum from London, England where it hung for many years in Mrs. Adair's home at 11 Portman Square; here, according to her grandson, M. H. W. Ritchie, of London and Dallas, "she entertained, during a number of years, almost every celebrity of this country and Europe." It was painted in 1894 by E. Tofano, a young Italian artist who went to London with his reputation already made and was soon very popular as a portrait painter. According to the grandson, this portrait marks the highest point of Tofano's artistic achievement, for he died soon after its completion. The frame of the picture has been greatly admired as a fine example of the carving in vogue during the period when it was made.

In a letter to Professor L. F. Sheffy, secretary of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, Mr. Ritchie writes, "The Ritchie family are glad to make this loan to what I consider a most praiseworthy institution—your Museum. I had heard a great deal of good about the Museum before I saw the building and the collections; however, the actual acquaintance with it very far surpassed my previous impressions."

Mrs. Adair Hunted Buffaloes

Cornelia Wadsworth Adair was born of pinoeers, for she was of the family of Wadsworths who left the Massachusetts Colony and moved into Connecticut to establish the town of Hartford. She was born in 1837 and in 1857 became the wife of M. Montgomery Ritchie of Boston, the grandfather of the donors of the portrait. Her first husband died in 1864, and in 1869 she married John George Adair, a Scotch-Irish broker, who was a pioneer in spirit.

GIFT TO MUSEUM

Portrait of Mrs. Cornelia Adair now hanging in the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum.

At that time it was a popular amusement for society people, both men and women, to come west on hunting trips into the country that had lately been crossed by the Union Pacific. In 1874 the Adairs came on such a trip, hoping to kill many buffaloes.

General Phil Sheridan was commander of the U. S. Army stationed on the frontier, and he insisted upon a cavalry escort for the Adair party. Mrs. Adair thought this unnecessary, and to her objections he replied, "You may not want them, but if you do, you will want them like Hell."

Before starting they were told of "Sheridan's Roost," a place where the General and his staff killed 63 wild turkeys in an hour's time, and Mrs. Adair hoped to kill a wild turkey.

On the South Platte River, Chief Two Lance of the Sioux and his lesser chiefs, Fire Lightning and High Bear treated the hunting party to a feast of boiled beans, cooked meat, and cans of tea and coffee.

The buffalo hunt ended almost disastrously, for Adair accidentally shot his own horse and was injured as his mount fell beneath him, and one of the cavalrymen was seriously hurt when his horse stumbled and fell with him. Buffalo were already thinned out except in the Texas Panhandle which the party dared not enter because of danger of the Comanches.

The Adairs liked the West, and in 1875 John George Adair transferred his American business interests to Denver, where in 1876 he met Colonel Charles Goodnight, and soon entered a business relation which was to result in the settlement of the Panhandle and the development of one of its finest ranches, the JA.

In 1885, Adair died, and Cornelia Adair, whose address was then given as Rathdair, Ireland, continued the partnership with Colonel Goodnight.

During this partnership two great cattle herds were developed. The American herd, for which the best Hereford bulls were purchased reached its peak size in 1880 with 7,314 grown cattle and 1,718 calves carrying the JJ brand; the main herd, branded JA was largest in 1888 with 60,759 grown cattle and 12,654 calves. When the Goodnight-Adair partnership was dissolved, there were 101,023 cattle to be divided.

Since that time the JA Ranch has gradually decreased in size by selling the lands and by the coming of settlers to school and railroad lands which the ranch once used.

During all the years following her husband's death until her own, Mrs. Adair made frequent trips from England to the Panhandle. T. D. Hobart, of Pampa, said of her: "She was a remarkable woman and did a great deal of entertaining in her younger days, having as her guests the late King Edward, Lord Kitchener, and others of that class. On the other hand she seemed happier at the Ranch than at any other place.

"She was always thinking of someone else. If any of the men were sick, or any of their families, she wanted something done about it at once. Those old cowboys who had been with her for years would have gone through fire for her if necessary."

Her family also appreciates what Mrs. Adair did for the Panhandle, for her grandson says, "Since my brother and I have been in this country, we have realized more than ever, the part our grandmother played in the awakening and development of the Panhandle, and the great esteem with which her memory is still regarded by those who met her. We, too, have completely lost our hearts to the Panhandle and the Ranch—it is our hope that we may have the opportunity of carrying on our Grandmother's tradition."

Many who will see the portrait in the Panhandle-Plains Museum will remember that Mrs. Adair gave to Clarendon a hospital, a Y. M. C. A. building which is now used as a Community Center, and equipment and endowment for the hospital, in addition to personal philanthropies of many kinds of which the public had no knowledge.

The picture may be seen on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Sundays from two to six when the Museum is open to the public.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Traveling Motion Picture Studio on World Tour

Through the influence of W. J. Wooten, manager of the Olympic Theatre, arrangements are made to have the elaborate Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Traveling Motion Picture Studio visit this city on its extensive goodwill tour of the world.

The lavishly equipped studio on wheels, constructed by the great motion picture company at a staggering cost of $150,000, is scheduled to arrive here next Friday, March 8, and according to present plans will be open for upblic inspection from 4:00 until 7:00 p. m. in front of the Olympic Theatre.

The studio, which has traveled across the continent from the famous M-G-M studios at Culver City, California, has abord it more than $60,000 worth of costly and intricate sound motion picture recording and projection equipment. It is a completely equipped Hollywood studio on wheels.

A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer director, and a complete staff of camera, soundmen, electricians, and movie makeup experts compose the personnel of the outfit, but motion pictures will not be filmed in this city during its visit.

Its brief stop-over here is being regarded purely as one to permit film fans of this city to inspect the magnificent outfit, to learn how talking pictures are filmed and recorded and projected, and the motion picture technicians with the studio will be available to answer questions regarding their work while the studio is here, it is said.

During the period the studio is to open for inspection, the general public will be permitted to enter the studio. They will be escorted through by the motion picture men, and the operation of the sound recording room in one section of the 65-foot outfit, and the sound projection room in the rear compartment of the studio, will be explained in detail.

The studio is hauled by a giant trackless locomotive equipped with powerful special built Waukesha motors, and this tremendous engine is in itself truly an outstanding sight. Special built camera, pilot and advance cars make up the remainder of the Hollywood caravan visiting this city with the studio.

Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Tanner of Lubbock were week end guests in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Lige Frieze.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Davis visited with Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Pearson at LeFors over the week end.

Encyclopedia 100 Years Old Placed in History Museum

An encyclopedia more than 100 years old, and, according to its title page, containing "science, art, and practical mechanics comprising a popular view of the present state of knowledge," has become a part of the library of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society.

The London Encyclopedia was printed in 1832 for Thomas Tegg of 73 Cheapside, London, and was sold in America by Whipple and Lawrence, Salem, Massachusetts.

The 21 volumes were presented to Clarendon College by Mrs. J. D. Stocking on July 20, 1926, and placed in the museum by H. T. Burton, president of the College, recently. Dr. Harris M. Cook of the West Texas State Teachers College faculty brought the valuable books from Clarendon.

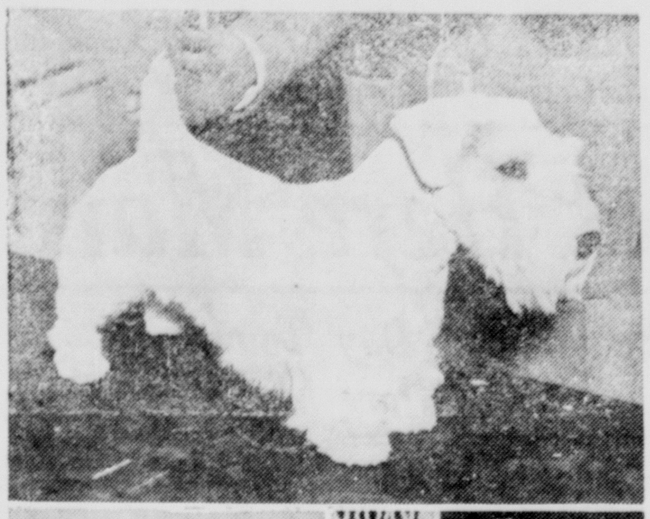

Following the practice of his time, the editor, whose name does not appear, placed upon the title page a quotation intended to put the reader in the proper frame of mind for perusal of the books. Quoting Erasmus he chose, "A reader should sit down to a book, especially of the miscellaneous kind, as a well-behaved visitor does to a banquet. The master of the feast exerts himself to please his guests; but if, after his care and pains, something should appear on the table that does not suit this or that person's taste, they politely pass it over without notice, and commend other dishes, that they may not distress a kind host."

Likely the London Encyclopedia was the predecessor of today's Encyclopedia Britannica as the first edition of it did not appear until 1884. The old volumes, when compared with the present Britannica, illustrate clearly how the values of men and things change in the course of 100 years. As an example, in the book printed in 1832, Alexander Hamilton, America's great Federalist, first secretary of the United States treasury, and financier, does not appear at all, but in the last edition of the Britannica, Hamilton is given five pages.

If the two encyclopedia indicate correctly, the horse is as important to the world today as it was when motor cars had not been dreamed of, for the old book devotes 19 pages to a description of horses, it expresses regret that fine horses are no longer produced and that only in the British cavalry can horses of quality be found. The newer publication gives 18 pages to the horse and tells much more about the different breeds of horses and how they have been produced than the old volume.

Persons who are interested in science will find the old volumes especially interesting, since they afford an opportunity to compare scientific ideas of today with those of a century ago. The books will be available to visitors at the museum under the direction of Professor L. F. Sheffy.

As Dog Show Actors 'Emote'

These dogs, the cream of canine society, seemed to run the gamut of emotions as judges named them winners in their classes at the recent New York dog show. As the Sealyham Gunsi de Babs of Hollybourne, above, proudly displayed his sleek dapperness, surly, disgruntled Drinkmoor Moonshine, the English bulldog shown bottom left, seemed to snarl "sissy." And by that weary, resigned expression on the face of Hercuveen Indisputable, the rough-haired St. Bernard, you just know he's wondering what dog shows are coming to.

Horace Griggs in Talk on Classification at Rotary

J. Horace Griggs of Amarillo gave a classification talk on funeral directing at the Rotary luncheon Tuesday. He described his vocation as a business which deals with people in their most trying time. "Most people know very little about funerals, and few attempt to find out, therefore many things are left to the funeral director," stated Mr. Griggs.

Among the things the director must know are: anatomy, religious rites, flowers, life insurance, and in addition be a merchant who handles a necessity.

Most people believe that the art of embalming known to the Egyptians is lost. This is not true, but the reason has changed. The Egyptians thought the soul would return to the body, and finding it not properly embalmed would enter an animal or insect to plague the negligent relatives. Today embalming is done for the sake of sanitation and to properly present the body as it was in life.

American funerals are less expensive than are funerals in France and Germany where they are controlled by the state.

Burial associations are unsound from a business standpoint.

The birthdays of Jess Barker, Oscar Gano, Golden Green, Floyd Savage, Bill Warren and Grady Pearson were recognized.

Al Baggett reported the progress of the Maverick Club, with 97 boys enrolled. He expressed appreciation of the wonderful cooperation given the club since it was started.

Visitors Tuesday were: Arch Hunsley, Carl Makeig, Phil Purdum, B. I. Barfield, Harvey Allen, J. J. Sanders, Rockwell C. Land, J. Horace Griggs, all of Amarillo; Travis Shaw of Canyon.

John Schramm accompanied by Earl Crist and Kermit Schramm of Amarillo, made a business trip to Hot Springs, N. M. over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Shotwell of Perryton visited relatives in Canyon last week. They returned home Sunday.

Visitors in the Schramm home Sunday were Mrs. K. R. Schramm and Mrs. Earl Crist of Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Applewhite of Floydada visited friends and relatives here over the week end.

Governor Will Be In Amarillo Next Week for Meetings

Governor James V. Allred will make his first public speech since inauguration in Amarillo next Tuesday at the annual Mother-in-Law Day. Stockmen of the Southwest will be in session at the same time.

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon McKinney returned Monday morning from a business trip to Dallas.

Cook Will Talk To Gray County Teachers, March 1

At Alanreed on March 1 at a meeting of Gray County teachers who were organized for the purpose of making a study of curriculum revision in Texas, Dr. Harris M. Cook will make a talk on curriculum revision. The meeting is sponsored by Superintendent W. B. Weatherford of Gray County and will be attended by all rural teachers of the county.

Dr. Cook reports that there is unusual interest in curriculum study in this section of Texas due to the work of such men as Superintendent R. B. Fisher of Pampa, Superintendent C. A. Cryer of McLean, Superintendent J. W. Dillard of Alanreed, Superintendent F. L. Mize of Lefors, and Superintendent Martin Baze of Hopkins.

Campus Projects Are Continued as Relief Measures

The State Relief Commission has approved the continuation of all projects on the W. T. campus. These include the completion of Buffalo Courts, together with its varied phases of beautification, and the building of the rock fences.

These projects had exhausted the available funds last week and new requisitions were taken to Austin by Travis Shaw. The work will continue until the government gets in motion the new proposed work program to take the place of existing relief projects.

The division of men between the highways project and the campus projects has been worked out to the satisfaction of Coach Al Baggett and Resident Engineer W. C. Cotton.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Bible School, 9:45 a. m.

Church Service 11:00 a. m. Sermon topic: The Unity of Faith.

Evening Church Service, 7:30. Sermon topic: The Unsearchable Riches of Christ.

How long since you have been to Church? You take food for your body regularly, why neglect sustaining your soul? If you use the word of God fitfully and irregularly, your spiritual life will thrive just about as the plant thrives that you water only once a month. A half-hearted service is an offense to the Lord, and if you are a Christian, a person filled with a burning love for your Redeemer and gratitude for what he has done for you, you are not going to accord him a half-hearted service, you are going to love the habitation of God's house and the place where His honor dwelleth.

The rarest of all rare creatures is the man who gets a lot of money without letting a lot of money get him.

Where, oh, where, was there ever a criminal charge that didn't have some sort of a flaw in it?

Senior Kid Day Friday

VOLUME NO. 9 — CANYON, TEXAS, FEBRUARY 28, 1935. — NUMBER 24

District Parent Teachers Meet Here March 20-22

Isn't it a good joke on Mr. Carruth having the mumps? I'd sure like to have a picture of his face. I want all you loyal students to show your appreciation of his abstinence by sending him a nice, big, sour, pickle, or something of the like. Oh, yes, Tip, (that's Mrs. Carruth) is taking advantage of him having the mumps, too! In fact, I saw her walking right into College Stunt Night with an old gray haired man. (Dr. Ingham and Mrs. Carruth were judges of the stunts).

Tubba Lisle had to copy the Superintendent and catch the mumps hisself. I guess he thought it would be sorta funny getting to lay out of school for a few days. I think Mr. Pope is wanting a vacation too, except he said that he hoped he didn't get the mumps until Mr. Carruth gets well!

The latest joke on Irene Thompson is that she had her hair cut off—but that isn't so much of a joke, I guess. To be exact, I kinda like it short. I guess Miss Clark will be about the next to cut off her hair.

I saw the law come up to school and get the biggest bunch of boys the other day. If anybody finds out why they got them, well, be sure and let me know the first thing, cause nobody I ask don't know anything about it.

The Seniors are planning a Kid Day for tomorrow, so if any of you are interested in seeing some funny sights, well you might hang around the school house.

It was too bad the boys had to get beat in the District. But even if I never saw the game, I know the boys played hard.

GOSSIP, SLANDER CHEAP WHAT IS THE GAIN?

"Now, June is my best friend, and I run around with her a lot, but I know that she certainly is boy crazy," remarked blonde Helen to a group of girls standing in the girls' locker room.

At this point of the discussion, Mary took a role by saying, "June is mad at me. I don't know why. I'm not mad at her. Joyce and I had a perfect fight yesterday because she didn't come by for me to go to the show when she promised she would. Don't you tell anyone, and I'll tell you a secret. Don't tell now, because I promised I wouldn't breathe a word of this. Joyce's father and mother are going to get a divorce."

The conversation went on and on. Jane's best friend imparted a few more secrets. All of the five girls promised faithfully that mum was the word. The discussion and group grew. They talked of the teacher's clothes, of the teacher's legs, and everyone.

Common gossip and slander is so cheap! And yet every morning how many C. H. S. students, boys and girls, spend at least fifteen minutes telling some secret or bit of gossip?

How much is gained? How great is the cost?

Intramural Tournament Under Way; Double Elimination Basis

The boys' intramural tourney opened yesterday with games between the seventh grade and the freshmen and the sophomores vs. the juniors. The tournament is to be played on a double elimination basis.

Although it is difficult to pick a favorite, the sophs and seniors probably have a slight edge on the other teams. The seniors won the tourney last year by defeating the juniors of this year. The seniors drew a bye, and will only have to win one game to reach the finals.

O. M. Solomon is coaching the grade school team, Wesley Cox the freshmen, Thomas Harris the sophomores, Jack Taylor the juniors and Curtis Elliston the seniors.

Extracts From The Exchange

Please heed! Maybe this applies to you, in our school.

"Many students of Abilene High School have the habit of laughing at the dramatic situations in plays being given on the stage. Now this is not entirely the fault of the students; there is only a paper-thin difference between the tragic and the ridiculous, and yet most of this laughing in chapel exhibits poor taste.

The students who put on these plays spend a great deal of time and hard work on them. They spend hours learning their lines and getting their cues. And on the whole their efforts have been awarded by smooth, professional presentation. But when their efforts are made ridiculous by laughter from the audience, it is no doubt discouraging. Moreover in such a situation, it becomes difficult for these amateurs to continue their roles to the best of their ability.

When the scene gets at its dramatic height and you have just a tiny inclination to smile, go ahead and smile if you wish, but don't laugh out loud. Perhaps the play isn't the only thing in the situation that is tragic."—Abilene High Battery.

Third Grade Has Japanese Tea For Their Mothers Fri.

"You are invited to attend the Japanese Tea given by the 3B Class on Friday afternaoon, Feb. 22, from 1:30 to 3 o'clock."

Last week, each student wrote an invitation, like the foregoing one, to his mother inviting her to attend the Japanese Tea given by 3B. The tea was under the direction of Miss Gladys McClanahan.

Appropriate Japanese decorations were seen on all sides. Facing the south, one could see directly in front of him, a table set from which tea was served; to the right were Japanese fans, made by the students; on the north wall hung a blue Japanese kimona; on the left stood a diminutive Japanese garden, where a pair of Japanese sandals were placed. Colorful paper flowers added to the Japanese motif.

Japanese stories were told by the following students: Betty Lee Potts, Joanna Vickery, Roland Hicks, George Black, Jack Goodwin, Kenneth Nicholson, Marion Williams, and Edward Summar. Marjorie Cooper gave the poem, "Foreign Children," by Robert Louis Stevenson.

Betty Lee Potts and Gwendolyn Phillips poured tea, which was served with rice cookies by Marjorie Cooper and Pauline Winstead to the following: Mesdames Emma Hicks, J. L. Ward, E. H. Little, Captain Cooper, Lorenzo Wirt, Sanford Black, Ed Phillips, W. E. Laughery, P. V. Winstead, and J. H. Williams. Misses Elva Fronabarger, Gladys McClanahan, and Winnie Dee Hicks were also served.

After being served, the guests heard other stories by these students: Gwendolyn Phillips, Calvin Sanders, Juanita McCarter, and Juanita Bidwell. Joe Billy Little told the story of "The Tongue-Cut Sparrow," the entire class sang the popular song, "Japanese Sandman." Pauline Winstead read Wynne's "Little Maid of Far Japan," and the tea was ended with "A Japanese Bow" by Pauline Winstead, Betty Lee Potts, Marjorie Cooper, and Gwendolyn Phillips.

Mary Collins, Carolyn Mayfield, and Billie Louise Greenfield went to Amarillo Friday night to the game and spent Saturday in Amarillo.

John Pope Is Main Speaker at P. T. A. Meeting

Principal John B. Pope addressed the Parent-Teachers Association on "The Need for Curriculum Revision," Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

He stressed the point that at present "we live our way into our thinking infinitely more than we think our way into our living."

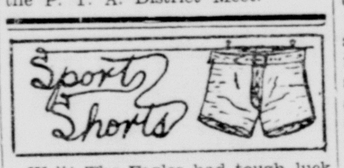

Mr. Pope told the parents and teachers that in order to promote this idea of curriculum revision, they will have to read magazines and books published on this subject and offer friendly criticisms after a careful weighing of the material read.

Assembly Program

The high school assembly program was the first of the P. T. A. program. This consisted of a piano number, "Stars and Stripes Forever," by Gladys McBride, Mary May Harrison, Marjorie Wilkinson, and Mary Ella Davis. Nell McNeely and Hazle Kirby of W. T. danced the minuet accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Lee Foster.

Four A and B under the direction of Miss Annis Smith, Mrs. Isabelle Cousins, and Miss Gwendolyn Black presented a program on the important dates of February.

Miss Black gave the piano selection "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise." Plans were made for entertainment of the people coming to Canyon, March 20 to the P. T. A. District Meet.

Well! The Eagles had tough luck this season, but we can always have another try; so keep the old spirit high and you will win perhaps next season.

Marble season has just started. It has also just stopped on the school grounds; it is an old custom not to gamble on the school property, at least if the school officials find it out. And that's just what happened. Both young and old are playing extensively, and already champions are being developed. Perhaps we should enter a boy or two in the American Tournament held in Atlanta, Ga., every March.

Intramural basketball competition is started, and many good teams have hopes for victory. The decisive game will be played Friday night to determine the champions for this year.

Track Work Starts Mon; Sanders Coach

Next Monday afternoon marks the opening date for track season in Canyon High School. Coach Milton Sanders an ex-Eagle and Buffalo star, will take charge of the work.

"Bravo, bravo," the Juniors cry
"We're proud of him, isn't he hot?
Long live our president,
May he never die."

Answer to last week's Guess Who: Mary Horn.

Carolyn Mayfield visited with her aunt in Happy Sunday.

Leslie Lisle is ill with the mumps.

Senior Kid Day Tomorrow Will Have Movie and Party

The gala affair of senior "Kid Day" is to be next Friday, all day. Every boy and girl must come dressed as a kid. It is rumored that any senior failing to dress as a kid will be required to ankle-walk through the belt line.

At 3:30 the entire class will troop down to the Olympic theater to see a matinee.

The class will have a "kid party" in the school gym at 7:30. Appropriate prizes will be given to the best boy kid and the best girl kid. The "kids" will be entertained with kid games and will be served ice cream cones.

Each boy and girl is making elaborate plans as to his or her costume for that day.

Agriculture Clas Visits Farm Fri.

By Joe Winstead

We, the members of the Agriculture Class, were in a rather good humor last Friday morning, and anticipating another exciting time of becoming intoxicated from the fermented juices of silage.

We journeyed to the T. S. Gerald farm about two and one-half miles north of Canyon in the school bus. It fell my lot to be sitting in front of a window, without the glass; it was rather "coolish."

Upon arriving at Mr. Gerald's place we jumped or fell out of the bus to be confronted by a large brindle bull-dog, but we easily made friends with him. As soon as we found that we were still alive we headed for the silo, which was of the trench type. We were disappointed because the intoxicating substance was dirty and dry as a remembrance of the sand storm last Thursday night. But our hopes arose as soon as Mr. Gerald dug and raked the top off and brought the clean, sweet, and moist stalks into sight. Soon we were happy and listening to some of Mr. Gerald's ideas. I was surprised to find that tumble-weeds ground and soaked, then mixed with salt make a palitable feed.

George Gandy, the instructor, seemed to think, and was probably right, that some of us did not know what a "oneway" plow was, although everyone seemed to think that he knew all about "Oneways."

Since it was slightly cool, Mr. Gandy suggested that we "load up" and journey back to school. Since these trips are enjoyable, I, for one, hope and expect to go on many more this spring.

P. T. A. STUDY CLUB MEETS THIS AFTERNOON

The P. T. A. Study Club will meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

Mrs. W. T. Davis will lead the group in the discussion, "What kind of a person will your child be?"

Home Economics II Judge Made-Overs

The second year home economics classes judged their made-over garments Friday morning, Feb. 22.

Each girl judged every garment except her own as good, average, or below average. The standards set to judge by were need of garment, time spent, material to work with, the way the garment fitted, and the construction of it.

Miss Brasuel remarked that there were many useful and attractive garments made from worthless old clothing.

Fay Plaster's brown satin blouse, made from a dress that she wore when she was ten years old, was considered one of the most attractive garments made.

Mr. Carruth's condition of the mumps has not improved much; it will probably be a week before he is able to return to school.

Jack Neal Jennings, Kenneth Cayton, and Wandell Johnson spent Friday night in Amarillo.

Mrs. Ola Beeson's daughter, Mrs. Merle Fowler, visited here this week end.

Eagles Lose First Game In District Tournament Fri.

Losing by a score of 16 to 30, the Eagles were eliminated from the district tournament last Friday night, while the Amarillo cagers went on to win the tournament by downing both Tulia and Dalhart.

The Sandies were favored thruout the game by the large end of the score. It seemed as though the Eagles could not place the ball after they had brought it across the 10-point line.

Captain Curtis Ellison, O. M. Solomon, Hampton Lisle, and Lawrence Fulton all played their last high school basketball in this game.

Jack Taylor, small Eagle forward, was high point man on the Eagles' team, He scored eight points.

This ended the Eagles cage season.

SECOND GRADES HAVE WASHINGTON PARTY

A George Washington party was given to Mrs. Beeson's second grade class by the second grade taught by Mrs. Murrell, last Friday afternoon.

A half hour was spent in playing games, after which Lindsey Taylor read a story of the early life of George Washington.

Pop-corn balls, apples and candy were served to the children as refreshments. The children then marched to their respective rooms to spend the remaining part of the evening.

Upon returning to their class room, Mrs Murrell's class found a beautiful birthday cake for Mary Gongelos. It not only made the day happy for Mary, but for the entire class. It also mistified the group because of its strange and sudden appearance. It also started a rumor about the class that a fairy must have brought it.

SENIOR ENGLISH CLASSES DRAMATIZE "MACBETH"

The two senior English classes are dramatizing scenes from "Macbeth" by Shakespeare, this week.

Some of the scenes chosen were the scene in which the witches tell Macbeth he will be king, the scene in which Macbeth murders Duncan, and the scene in which Macduff finds Duncan murdered.

The classes will exchange dramatized scenes Tuesday and Wednesday. The favorite scene will probably be given in assembly sometime in the future.

CAN YOU TAKE IT?

Girl: (in store) I'd like to get some shorts to wear around my gymnasium.

Clerk (absentmindedly): And just what size is your gymnasium?

Get your laugh! You like jokes; everybody does. Tease if you please, get your laugh out of the fellow who "can't take it," but first be sure you can, or you're likely to get it turned on you.

Take it easy, don't get angry; they'll just tease you more. Learn to laugh with them as well as at them, and you'll get along fine in this old world.

Margaret Croson spent the week end in Claude.

Kenneth Black went to Mineral Wells this week.

Rubye, Robbie, and Lenna Foster spent the week end in Littlefield.

Helen Johnson: I want "Fifty-Four Forty or Bust."

Librarian: Don't you mean "Fifty-Four-Forty or Fight?"

The judging committee, Miss Lois Goodrich, and Mr. Aubrey Fox, decided that the New Orleans Gazette was the winner because its contents and style were good, its news was varied, and it looked more like a newspaper than the rest.

The members of the Gazette staff are: Lorene Bessire, editor; Overton Donnell, Estill Furlow, Anna Kathryn Overton, Jack Jennings and Leslie Lisle, reporters. They will be presented with a prize of a ten cent drink for each member of the staff.

Amarillo Prepared For New And Greater Prosperity As Business Moves Forward

MAYO & BALL DENTAL CLINIC OFFERS HIGHEST TYPE OF SERVICE

Good teeth! What other two words in English language mean so much to all of us? Yes, good teeth mean much insofar as appearance is concerned; for a man of intelligence is expected to have some reasonable showing of care in this respect. But let us go deeper. Bad teeth go deep down into the vitals of our very health and if we have infected teeth we have rheumatism and all sorts of serious and painful disorders. Sometimes this is because we have feared the pain of the dentists chair and again because we have feared we did not have sufficient funds to pay the dentist's charges. That is why it is a pleasure to refer to Mayo & Ball Dental Clinic, 318½ Polk Street, Phone 2-3436, Amarillo, who are one of the finest and most efficient dentist firms in Amarillo. More than that they have surrounded themselves with every modern invention and device to make the dentist's chair less terrible. In fact, so perfect is their method that today dental operations as done by Mayo & Ball Dental Clinic deserves a great deal of credit for their splendid methods and they are getting it in constantly increasing patronage.

Coca-Cola BOTTLING CO., AMARILLO OFFERS PUBLIC NATIONAL DRINK

Coca-Cola Bottling Works can boast of an up-to-date plant, bottling the nationally famous Coca-Cola.

This prestige and endorsement could not have come but one way—by giving the nation a tasty drink of uniform high quality and continuing to do it for over a period of many years. This has been the policy of the Coca-Cola Company and it is the reason why it increases in popularity year after year. During the life of the "national drink" a thousand imitators have sprung up all over the nation only to die the death of an inferior product. Each year new imitations are made and that is why you should be sure you are getting the genuine when you order Coca-Cola.

The plant of the Coca-Cola Company is modern and up-to-date and the most sanitary conditions exist throughout. Only pure and wholesome ingredients go into the manufacture of their products and their delivery system is certain. When they say they will deliver to you, you may rest assured that it will be there on time.

The trucks from this company cover this district thoroughly and if there is any dealer who does not handle their product, he should certainly give it a trial, and a pleased customer is the best asset of any business which depends upon the continued patronage of the public in general.

When dealing with this firm you'll find the manager and his assistants pleasing and accommodating and the service you receive from them will be the same high quality that marks their product.

The great service that F. W. Woolworth Store extends to the public makes it a great economic value to the community and thus they are rendering the public the highest type of mercantile service.

Amarillo Gas Company, of Amarillo Is of Much Value as a Community Asset

One of the greatest factors in human life of all times has been the fuel by which food is cooked, homes heated, water heated and the diversified industrial processes carried out. Modern life, due to greater housing and commercial congestion and to the shortness of time and energy which may be expended on laborious operations, demands that such fuel be easily procured, that it requires no storage space, and that it have no residue. This fuel must be adaptable to exacting automatic control and reasonable in price. Such a fuel is gas, the modern ideal fuel for any purpose which requires heat. A great and true slogan is "If It C an Be Done Better With Heat, It Can Be done Better With Gas."

One of Amarillo's public utility concerns furnishing a very excellent service at nominal rates being under a progressive and public spirited management. One of the most popular concerns with its thousands of patrons who have always found not only satisfactory, but courteous service.

There is not a more difficult or a more thankless task than the successful operation of a modern gas company. And the disadvantages under which such a concern must labor has been increased several hundred per cent by the continued advances in the cost of supplies, labor and everything else that pertains to the conduct of a public utility company.

Therefore we wish to direct the attention of all of our readers to the admirable manner in which the Amarillo Gas Co. has served its many subscribers; to the extremely low rates that have been charged; to the modern equipment and the continuous improvements made to keep each and every branch of the service up-to-date; and to the public-spirited policies that have characterized the manager's direction of this important public utility.

To the Amarillo Gas Company must go no small portion of the credit of the progress and expansion of this part of Texas for it has been a most important factor in our civic development. Its presence here in active operation and under expert supervision of such a metropolitan utility company is really a factor that adds to the attractiveness of all of the territory it serves as a more desirable community in which to live or locate.

We wish to say in this tribute edition which recounts the most salient features of our onward progress, that this company is not only a model institution of its kind, but that it has merited the hearty support and activity of everybody in this section.

With a broad vision of our future development, the manager and his assistants have built not only for the present but for the years to come and when the population of this part of the state has doubled we predict that this company will continue to be one of the best conducted, best equipped and most satisfactory of our commercial and industrial assets rendering a service that is at the same time comprehensive and complete, at a rate so reasonable that then as now people will marvel at the success of the management in continually adding new improvements.

The corps of employees are well known men of the community who have given personal attention to the maintenance of efficiency in every branch of the service. The management is courteous and accommodating, making every effort to render the best service that modern science and human ingenuity can devise.

McSpaden, Young Man Who Went West, Proves Golf Sensation on Coast

. . . One-Time Beef Trust Now a Brain Trust

A RANGY, wiry-armed youth of 26, who hits a golf ball straight and true, has been snatching all the glory from the Sarazens, the Dutras, and the Hagens in recent weeks. Golfdom's newest idol is Harold "Juggernaut" McSpaden, who has won three major titles and $2562 along California's winter gold trail in a little more than a month.

So far, this lean sharpshooter who looms as a possible member of the 1935 American Ryder Cup team, has won the Pasadena and Sacramento open tournaments, and defeated Harry Cooper in the final of the San Francisco match play open.

McSpaden is no flash in the pan. In Kansas City, he played golf as a kid. Last year he shot a 62, nine strokes below par and one of the lowest tourney scores in golf annals, in the Santa Monica open, over a 6100-yard regulation tournament course.

Then he copped several minor victories in Missouri Valley tournaments. But he really skyrocketed to fame in recent weeks.

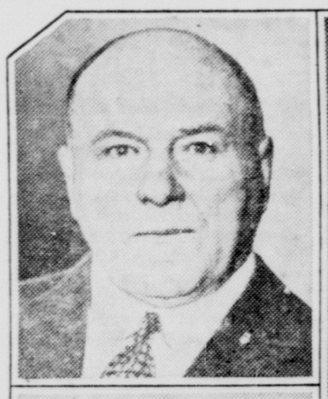

Oddly enough, it was Walter Hagen, one of his opponents, who changed McSpaden's game for the better, when he suggested that "Jug" use his brassie instead of the driver. A tremendous hitter, the new sensation has of late been aiming for accuracy rather than distance.

McSpaden's golfing temperament is perfect, his co-players say, and there isn't a freak shot in his bag. The only odd thing about this new golf wonder is the fact that he wears gloves on both hands while playing.

Questioned regarding his marvelous spurt, McSpaden is very modest. "My game is hot right now," he says, "but whether I can keep it up remains to be seen. I practice a lot and hope for the best.

"I'd like to play on the Ryder Cup team this year, but a lot can happen to one's game overnight. I guess I'll just keep on hoping." • • •

WHEN a wrestler begins to grapple with Father Time, he is almost invariably sent spinning into oblivion. Not so with George Hackenschmidt, the best bone-crusher in the business back about 1907.

At the age of 57, "Hack" is busily occupied in writing voluminous tomes on the subject of psychology — and doing very well, thank you.

The "Russian Lion" recently lectured on his chosen profession at England's Cambridge University, a top honor in this line of endeavor.

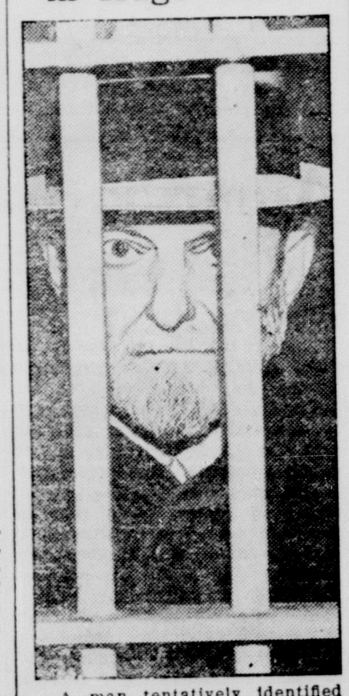

If "Hack" continues to be half as successful in wrestling with psychological problems as he was in handling fellow gruntners in the olden days, he should rate with the best of the mental giants.

With Italy's indignation over the killing of Italian troops in African border clashes heightened by the statement of Emperor Haile Selassie I (left above) of Ethiopia, that his brigandish warriors (bottom right) were not at fault, war impended in North Africa, with Abyssinian territory bordering Italy's African colonies, Somaliland and Eritrea, as the possible battleground. Farley Tells Of Canal Zone Visit

Cal Farley, the flying Dutchman, was brought to West Texas State Teachers College for a lecture in chapel Tuesday, through the efforts of Emmett Galloway who recently founded Maverick Club No. 2 in Canyon.

Mr. Farley told of his trip thru the Panama Canal Zone. He described the country, the people, and told of the process of building the canal and how it is operated today.

An interesting note of his speech was that the Canal Zone people feel as if a war with Japan is imminent and that "each person already had his spot," his duty assigned to perform if war does begin.

The audience manifested great interest in his talk.

THE BELL SYSTEM AT A GLANCE

How a nation-wide telephone network is organized

The Bell System is big, but its organization is not complex.

The A. T. & T. is parent company, service and research organization, and financial headquarters of the System. It owns Western Electric, which buys and manufacturers for the System at prices about a fourth below the prices of similar equipment in the competitive market. Jointly with Western, it owns Bell Laboratories, where science constantly seeks better and cheaper methods of giving you telephone service.

It owns more than 90 per cent of the voting stock of the 24 associated companies (of which the Southwestern Company is one) and it operates the long distance trunk lines linking the territories of these companies. Its staff carries on for these companies a constant search for more economical ways to give good telephone service.

Each part of the organization exists because the function it performs is essential to the job of giving good telephone service at fair cost to you.

Tire Alarm System Invented and Company Is Formed

C. E. Steen of Canyon, together with Orville W. Harris and Tony B. Maxey of Floydada have invented a tire alarm and organized a company under the state law to put this alarm on the market.

A car equipped with this system was here Saturday to demonstrate the invention. The device is simple, each tire being connected with an electric light on the dash board in front of the driver. When a tire is low the light flashes, warning the driver of this fact. The invention was given a thorough test before being patented and shown to various car manufacturers at Detroit.

Plans are being made for the production of the alarm device, which will be at a nominal cost. Mr. Steen and Mr. Harris conceived the idea, and worked on the plan until it was perfected so as to be eligible for a patent. They took the plans to Washington for the patent, and showed it to car manufacturers in Detroit.

The state charter calls for a company with 2,500 shares, no par value, but these will be placed on the market at $10 each. The directors of the company are B. K. Barker, O. P. Rutledge, O. W. Harris, Tony B. Maxy of Floydada, and C. E. Steen of Canyon.

United States Entertains the Dionnes, Parents of Famed Quintuplets

Even during the exciting whirl of their United States tour, thoughts of their five remarkable babies back home remained constantly with Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne. They are shown buying dolls for the quintuplets, who are pictured below.

SOME nine months ago, a quirk of destiny converted an obscure Canadian peasant couple into the world's most famous parents. And recently, for the first time, Americans have had a chance to get a "close-up" of Oliva and Elzire Dionne of Corbeil, Ont.

The night last May that overburdened stork sagged into Corbeil, bringing the quintuplets to double the Dionne brood, the medical world was astounded. The chance of such a quintuple birth, it seems, was something like one in 57,000,000.

And then, to further confound historians, the babies and the mother lived and thrived, a thing absolutely unheard-of in reliable medical records.

Since their recent arrival in the United States the Dionnes have seen many wonders of which formerly they had only heard in their humble north woods village.

Skyscrapers that were taller than their homeland's highest trees; beautiful parks and boulevards, glittering department stores, gay, sophisticated night clubs and their palatial hotel suites, all drew French expressions of amazement from the parents of the quintuplets.

Typical, yet eloquent of their pleasure at seeing familiar friends in new and strange surroundings, was their eagerness to visit the Chicago stockyards. Here, where more stock animals are gathered daily than he sees in months, Papa Oliva was in his glory.

And Mama Dionne reveled in stores where breath-taking fabrics and dresses were spread before her, in shops where the newest beautifying processes were available.

But the sight of rows upon rows of babies in a metropolitan lying-in hospital brought a wave of homesickness to the Dionnes, recalling their children back at North Bay.

• • •

AT Corbeil, two buildings shelter the Dionne offspring. In one, a simple frame house, three boys and two girls, ranging in age from 2 to 8, eat, sleep, do their chores and frolic just like other children of the region.

In a tidy little hospital just across the road, however, the five other little Dionnes—the quintuplets—are being attended with exquisite care by Dr. Allan R. Dafoe and efficient nurses.

And the most modern scientific methods and apparatus available are employed to safeguard the progress of the wonder babies, who continued to live despite the ominous head-shaking of the world's sagest physicians.

MAVERICK CLUB

NUMBER TWO
Canyon, Texas
By Pat Noser

Well boys, we got our Maverick Club No. 2 started, and judging from the beginning we are going to have a real club.

Friday night Mr. Galloway brought his No. 1 club from Amarillo and put on a program for us. Some of the Amarillo Mavericks put on boxing and wrestling exhibitions and Dutch Mantell brought Vic Webber and a human gorilla named Pogi to help out the program.

After the program all of us got ice cream. Then Saturday morning, we went back to the gym and signed up. Seventy-eight boys joined the club and got their cards. Monday afternoon some more came, came and the membership is now ninety-seven.

Monday afternoon was the first regular meeting, and although it was pretty cold, 72 boys reported. We played basketball, and had some instruction in horizonal bar work, boxed, wrestled and had a lot of fun. Monday was the first time, and though the boys didn't try very hard, some of the boxers and wrestlers looked like professionals. They already want to compete with the Amarillo Maverick Club.

Monday night the Amarillo basketball team came down to Canyon to play our team. We had not been organized nearly as long as the Amarillo Club, but our team won a close game.

We are looking forward to more competition of all kinds with the Amarillo Club. More news next time, after we have some more meetings. We have a lot of plans made for different things. Later on we will have our elections and further organization.

Right now we will have all our meetings in the Burton Gymnasium, which is all right with us, because we get to use boxing gloves, mats, basketballs, and everything else that is in the gym. Later on, though, Coach Baggett is going to build us a separate building out of some of this natural rock that is being used in Buffalo Court.

Authentic Buffalo Pictures Found in Museum on Campus

Four of the most authentic pictures of Buffalo in existince are the possession of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society, according to information received by Professor L. F. Sheffy, secretary of the organization.

Recently an advertising agency sought photographs of buffaloes to be used in material they were preparing for one of their customers. A search of the copyrights registered at Washington, D. C., showed only five pictures of the buffalo as they once existed in the Panhandle. All of these pictures are found in the museum at Canyon.

Among these pictures are "The End" and "The Herd," registered in the name of Martin S. Garretson, president of the American Bison Society. "The Herd," Colonel Goodnight said, "The picture showing the front of a bull herd going south is a very fine thing and very natural." Colonel Goodnight was once a frontier ranger and had seen vast herds of buffalo.

The pictures of the Buffalo herds and the bones which were all that was left a few years later hang in Pioneer Hall of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum.

All classified advertisements must be paid in advance unless arrangements are made in person to care for the payment of them. Classified ads received through the mail will not be published unless accompanied by the cost of insertion.

Word ads intelligently—do not try to save a few cents by leaving out necessary words; tell who, what, where, and, if essential, when and why.
